It's Time to Lead the Way

Timorese people speak about exile resistance and identity

ETRA

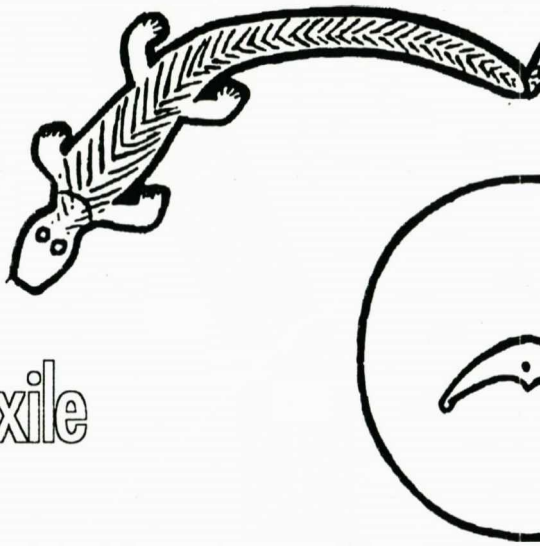
EAST TIMOR `95

August 12 & 13 1995

Australians in Solidarity

The aim of the conference is to encourage the participation, development and empowerment of Timorese people who are not participating directly in the political affairs of East Timor.

For twenty years within the Timorese diaspora, the majority have in many ways been alienated from the political process.



The social, cultural and political experiences of Timorese people are both influenced and fragmented by three different cultures:

1. The Timorese in East Timor under Indonesian domination and control;

resistance

2. Timorese living in Portugal in continuity with the colonial past;

identity

3. And Timorese in Australia integrated with the norms and structures of Australian society.

This diversity will be represented in the conference as young Timorese express their views and beliefs on what it means to be Timorese, how the East Timor issue should be tackled and their roles in the political processes in the future.
